Welcome to the Terrace Boating Winter Bulletin.

Well, Winter arrived with full force. Our thoughts go to all of those who have been impacted by recent flooding and heavy rainfall and wish them all the best for their recovery.

The weather has certainly meant that water, swell and wind conditions have been intense. We've noticed plenty of displaced wildlife and debris in waterways too, so please take care out there!

In this edition of our bulletin, we've highlighted a selection of safety items, including life jackets. There are also some handy hints and tips we hope you find useful.

And, of course, we feature a range of products that get us excited for warmer days and calmer conditions.

Sending you our best wishes,
JOSHUA PADMOS

Trailer Tips:

Choosing the right trailer

When it comes to trailer selection, there are many things to consider. Here are some top tips.

Consider trailer suitability

Always look for a trailer that can handle all the environmental conditions you intend to use it in. Thinking about your requirements will help you narrow down your options.

Aluminium vs steel?

When it comes to choosing a material for your boat trailer, there are pros and cons. Steel trailers need to be galvanised if it is used in salty water. Steel trailers are heavy but easy to paint if you want your trailer to match your boat. Aluminium trailers are highly durable, lightweight and resistant to rust. Aesthetically, they're pleasing to the eye.

Consider drive-on capability and catch and release

If the size and type of your boat allow this, it's worth investing in a boat trailer with drive-on capability. This allows you to back your trailer into the water and drive your boat onto the trailer, or at the very least close enough to the winch so that you can retrieve your boat faster.

Boat fit-up

No matter your trailer choice, you will need to have your boat fitted up to the trailer
